LEGI-SLATE Report for the 100th Congress

August 18, 1987 13:22(EDT)

Report for S.994 Overseas Facilities Security Act of 1987

As introduced in the Senate

Item 3: Text of Measure (no subdivisions)

(b)(1) Prior to entering on duty in any position directly involving the security of any government facility in a foreign country, every current or prospective government employee, including but not limited to members of the Foreign Service and the Armed Forces of the United States, shall take a polygraph examination limited to determining the possible vulnerability of that employee to recruitment or manipulation by a foreign intelligence service for the purpose of engaging in espionage against the United States. No such employee shall continue in his or her duty or enter on duty if the results of such examination indicate possible vulnerability to such recruitment or manipulation.

Item 3: Text of Measure (no subdivisions)

(2) Employees for whom the examination results indicate no possible vulnerability to such recruitment or manipulation shall, nevertheless, be subject to periodic polygraph reexaminations. Every such employee shall have at least one such examination every 12 months.
